PLAIN AND FANCY

BOOK AND JOB PRINTING IF BILL-HEADS, VISITING, BUSINESS AND ADDRESS ARDS printed in the highest style of the art.

Christmas.

So now is come our joyfulest feast : Let every man be jolly ; Each room with ivy leaves is drest, And every post with holly. Though some churls at our mirth replue. Round your foreheads garlands twine ; Drown sorrow in a cup of wine,

And let us all be merry. Now all our neighbors' chimneys smoke, And Christmas blocks are burning; Their ovens they with baked meats choke, And all their spits are turning ; Without the door let sorrow lie; And if for cold it hap to die,

Now every lad is wond'rous trim, And no man minds his labor; Our lasses have provided them A bagpipe and a tabor; Young men and maids, and girls and boys, Give life to one another's joys;

We'll bury't in a Christmas pie,

And evermore be merry.

And you anon shall by their noise Perceive that they are merry. Rank misers now do sparing shun; Their hall of music soundeth; And dogs thence with whole shoulders run,

So all things there aboundeth. The country folks, themselves advance, With crowdy-muttons out of France; And Jack shall pipe and Jill shall dance. -Old Song And all the town be merry.

VARIETY.

"Helen B. Darrned" is the rather expressive and expletive name of a lady residing in New

A lady fell into an open coal-hole in the pavement in front of a store in Richmond, Ind., and in falling thrust her hand through a window. The store keeper helped her out and charged her $1 40 for the broken glass.

"What is editorial courtesy?" asks a paper. Why. It is when an editor is caught stealing chickens at midnight and his brother editors | 1. G. DICKSON. kindly allude to the matter as a "strange freak of a somnambulist."

He was taken sick in the night and in her youthful ignorance she made two mustard plasters and placed one on his chest and one between ins shoulders; and then, horrid sarcasm! she asked him how he felt. But he was a well-bred man, and merely said that he appreciated, with a tenderness he had never known before, the true position of a sandwitch in the community.

Adam Scott had a boy Rob who was a great terror to him. He prayed very earnestly for him, and once in his wise; "O, Lord, ba'e mercy on Rob. Ye ken yoursel he is a wild callant, and thinks nae mair o' committing sin than a dog does o' licking a dish; but put Thy hook in his nose, and Thy bridle in his gab and gar him come back to Thee wi' a jerk that he'll no forget the langest day he has to live."

Governor Zeb. Vance tells of a New Orleans man who died, and left the seventh article in his will as follows: " Whereas, it seems that my son John seems inclined to play poker, which is a dangerous game to tinker with unless you know what you are doing; therefore, I leave my son John $10,000 that he may go to Halifax, N. C., and learn how to play the game."

A little boy being instructed in morals by his grandmother, the old lady told him that all such term as "by goll," "by jingo," "by thun-der;" etc., were only little oaths, and but little better than other profanities. In fact, she could tell a profane oath by the prefix "by." All such were oaths. "Well, then, grandmother," said the hopeful, "is by telegraph," which I see in the newspapers, swearing?" "No, said the old lady, " that is only lying."

Two young attorneys were wrangling for a long time before Judge Knox, of Virginia, over a point of law. His Honor rendered his decision, and the sprig who had lost impudently remarked: "Your Honor there is a growing opinion that all the fools are not dead yet. "Certainly," answered the Court, with unruffled good humor, "I quite agree with you, Mr. B-, and congratulate you upon your healthy appearance."

KEEP YOUR MOUTH SHUT .- Blessed is the man who knows enough to keep his mouth shut. Some people live sixty years without learning the art. Indeed, the older they grow the wider their mouths open. A man or woman who is a gabbler at forty-five is a deadful affliction to a house or church or community. There are two things this age needs to learn-when to say nothing, and when to say any thing to say it well. "If any man among you seems to be religious, and bridleth not his tongue, this man's religion is vain." - Golden Rule.

Before she could utter the " Where have you been till this hour of the morning, anyhow?" which was trembling on her lips, he said; " Bin' their mind reading; bet you seven dollars I can read yer mind this very minnit." "Well you old fool, what am I thinking of now?" she said in a tone of sadness. "Thinkin' of! Why, I can read your mind like ther open pages of 'er book ; yer thinkin' I'm drunken'r a biled owl, but yer never was worse fooled in your life.' She only said that there must be something in mind reading after all, for he had hit the nail right square on the head .- Philadelphia Press.

Boston Herald: On the election day, while General Butler was in the line for the purpose of exercising his great prerogative of the American citizen, he was addressed by an acquaintance as follows: "Why General, are you going to -cast the clean ticket-not a scratch on it-can you stand the whole let?" General-" Yes, yes, I am going to put it in just as it is, but I am somewhat in the position of the countryman, who after baving signed a statement, was asked by his attorney, in the presence of witnesses. Do you acknowledge this as your own free act and deed ? ' Yes, sir,' answered the countryman, it is, but it goes hard agin the will."

Tom Ewing insists that we can't resume specie payments until we get twelve hundred millions of gold in the Treasury. He says : " Experience has shown it to be an axiom in finance that, in order to sustain specie payments, it is necessary to have on hand a very much larger amount of coin than the entire volume of paper currency which is kept affoat. Take England, for instance. She keeps constantly on hand about seven hundred millions in coin; but the volume of her - per afloat never exceeds two hundred and fift, millions. On the same basis we should have much more than twelve hundred millions of coin on hand, for we have nearly seven hundred millions of paper afloat."

At the Criminal Court yesterday, a colored SUGAR FACTORS, man stoutly pleaded not guilty to a charge of burglary, and, as he had no money, Judge Jones beckoned toward one of the young and rising counsellors present and remarked: " Mr .--- , I appoint you to defend the pris-

The colored burglar rolled his eyes with horror when he heard the name of the hero of a hundred convictions mentioned with his case, and

" No, Jej. no. I guess not. I pleads guilty, ef year don't make it more'n two years in de The prisoner was sentenced accordingly, and the young lawyer tallied one more lost case .-Southern paper.
